

Mission

DesignWorks Construction is a design-build company based in Floyd County, Virginia. We offer design solutions custom-tailored to your needs and your building site, and top-of-the-line craftsmanship in the construction phase. With our design-build service, design doesn't end when building begins.

Our houses are planned with response to your specific preferences and needs. We take into account the unique characteristics of the building site including, topography, solar orientation, prevailing breezes, and views. We specialize in eco-friendly, innovative and efficient plans, energy-conserving design and custom detailing.

With our additions we are careful to remain sensitive to the architectural style and scale of the original house. A successful addition will improve both the function and the appearance of your house while respecting its better details and overall style.

Since its beginning in 1987, DesignWorks has remained committed to providing the highest level of service to our clients throughout the design and build process.
